Outlook.msg as mailmerge Template/Output format Completed

Are there any plans to allow us to mailmerge to the body of an email in Outlook.msg format?

I have been mailmerging to txt files and either manually pasting the results into a new email, or programatically creating a new mail with the results text as the body, but being able to use a saved .msg as a template, or to be able to save mailmerged results to a .msg format would be awesome.
